It is said to have been occupied in common by two bruthers, one of whom had a family, and the other had none. On the evening succeeding the harvest, the wheat having been gathered in separate shocks, the elder brother said unto his wile:

shocks, the clder brother said unto his wife:
"My younger brother is unable to bear the burden and heat of the day: I will arise, take off my shocks and place with his, without his knowledge."
The younger brother, being actuated by the same benevolent motives, said within himself: "My elder brother, has a family, and I have none. I will arise, take off my himsell: "My elder orother, has a lamily, and I have none; I will arise, take off my shocks and place with his, without his knowledge, and contribute to their support," Judge of their mutual astonishment when, on the following morning, they found their respective shocks undiminished. This course of events transpired for several successive nights, and each resolved in his own mind to stand goard and solve the mystery. They did so; when on the following night, they met each other half way between their respective shocks, with their arms full.

Upon ground hallowed by such associa-tions as this was the Temple of Solomon creeted—so spacious and magnificent—the wonder and admiration of the world. Alas in these days, how many wo ld sooner steal their brother's whole shock than add to it Cill The John Brown Fund in Hayti, which assumed such gigantic proportions in the newspapers a short time since, turns out to he" no great shakes," after all. The sum substribed amounts to one hundred and eighty-four dollars, fifty centimes and ten piastres. This is reducing the amount conpractices. This is recording the miderably from what was originally etated, but when we further take into consideration that the Haytian dollar is about equal in value to six cents of our currency, the amount seems insignificant indeed.

The Charleston Mercury regrets "that Mr. Breokinridge has consented to imitate Mr. Douglas in delivering speeches, with a view to the Presidential election. We had hoped that now, and forever after, Mr. Douglas would have stood alone in the "bad eminence" of a Presidential sump speaker. Mr. Breckinridge can do neither himself nor his party any good by pursuing a course so inconsistent with the dignity of the high office at which he aims. William Lowndes said, "That the Presidential office should neither be sought for nor declined." That was the sentiment of a man worthy to fill such an office, with its he avy rasponsibilities—its grave and important duties. The idea of a candidate scouring the country to obtain it, by electioneering harangues and personal appeals to win popular favor, can excite nothing but the most unmitigated disgust and contempt."

"Why," rejoined the Bishop, "isn't this Mr. D——s church! I appointed to hold confirmation here today." "Well, sir, there's another Mr. D—just beyond here, that keeps an Episcopal Church; perhaps that's where you mean?" The bundle of canonicals, and the Bishop with it, were seen leaving.—N. Y. Sun. -N.
